THE LINCOLN HEAD

Abraham Lincoln was the first famous American to have his portrait appear on a United States coin of regular issue. In 1909, on the one-hundredth anniversary of his birth, the Lincoln head cent was put in circulation.

THE DESIGNER

Victor D. Brenner, whose initials appear on the Lincoln cent, was a famous sculptor who had designed the Lincoln centennial medal. The model of Lincoln's profile based on the medal portrait was selected. The initials V.D.B. which appear on the reverse of the first 1909 cents stirred up an immediate controversy and were removed a few days after coinage commenced. They were restored in 1918 to the obverse. A magnifying glass is necessary to read the initials which now appear on the extreme lower part of the bust itself, under the shoulder and near the rim of the coin.

THE MOTTOES

IN GOD WE TRUST was first used as a coin motto on the two cent pieces first coined in 1864. Its use was extended to include other denominations by the Law of March 3, 1865, a month and a half before Lincoln's assassination.

E PLURIBUS UNUM, a widely used Latin motto, means One Composed of Many. It was originally used on the Cents of New Jersey from 1786 to 1788.

United States Mints

There are three United States mints making Lincoln Head Pennies. The Philadelphia mint has no distinguishing mark on its coins. The Denver mint places a capital "D" under the date on the one cent piece and the San Francisco mint places a capital "S" under the date on the one cent piece.

Three Separate Collections

A coin card for each mint may be used which makes it possible to acquire three separate collections of Lincoln Pennies.

Number of Cents Coined Each Year

The following table gives the number of pennies by millions which have been coined each year by the Philadelphia (P), San Francisco (S), and Denver (D), mints.
